Veterans Stadium

Veterans Stadium has been the home of the Eagles since 1971. Known to thousands of Delaware Valley sports fans as "the Vet," the stadium is one of the finest multi-purpose sports facilities in the country.

The Vet is built on a 74-acre site in South Philadelphia in a complex that includes a recreational park, mammoth John F. Kennedy Stadium and the Spectrum indoor arena, home of the Philadelphia Flyers and 76ers.

Veterans Stadium, built at a cost in excess of $50 million, is unmistakably the jewel of the complex. The Eagles, 76ers, Phillies and Fury Soccer Club maintain their executive offices in the stadium.

The first Eagles' game at the Vet took place on August 16, 1971 when they downed the Buffalo Bills in a pre-season encounter, 34-28. The first championship season win came at the expense of the New York Giants, 23-7, on October 24, 1971.

Previous home fields for the Eagles in Philadelphia have been the Baker Bowl, Shibe Park (Connie Mack Stadium), J.F.K. (Municipal) Stadium, and the University of Pennsylvania's Franklin Field.

In seven previous seasons in Veterans Stadium, the Eagles have compiled a 20-28-1 regular season record. The seating capacity for football is 66,005 and the field is astro-turf, installed in the spring of 1977.

EAGLES' OUTLOOK

The Eagles won nine games last year, gained a berth in the NFC wildcard playoffs and generally made believers of the cynics who felt that even a .500 season was in the realm of impossibility for Dick Vermeil's collection of free agents, lower-round draft choices and relatively few star-quality players.

But that was last year and now many of those same cynics have jumped on the bandwagon, some even suggesting that the Birds may be poised to give the Dallas Cowboys a run for the top spot in the NFC's competitive Eastern Division. It's all a part of what Vermeil calls "rising expectations" and, while the coach guarantees that he will field a better football team in 1979, he realistically notes that it will be difficult to match last year's record.

"It will not be easy to go nine and seven again," he cautions. "I'm not looking for excuses for losing; it's just that I'm very much aware of what it takes to win in the league and we're not there yet. But we're going in the right direction. We're a stable, solid football team that can play. There is no one on our schedule that we can look at and say, 'there's a win' but, by the same token, nobody can look at the Eagles and say, 'there's one or two wins.' They can't do that anymore. We've gained respect for people and they've gained respect for us."

Among the Eagles that people respect the most are defensive leader Bill Bergey, the perennial all-pro inside linebacker, and offensive stars Harold Carmichael, Ron Jaworski and Wilbert Montgomery. The performances of that quartet will go a long way in determining the fortunes of the Eagles in 1979.

Bergey is unquestionably the leader of coordinator Marion Campbell's effective 3-4 defense, a unit that allowed just 250 points last year, third best mark in the NFC. The major flaw was a mediocre pass rush that dumped opposing quarterbacks only 29 times. To alleviate that problem, the Birds acquired superstar pass rusher Claude Humphrey from Atlanta in the off-season. At the very least, he should add the flexibility to move into a four-man defensive line in obvious passing situations, a luxury the Birds didn't have in recent years.

Humphrey, of course, would like to again be a full-time player but, to do so, he'll have to beat out 6-8, 275-pound second-year left end Dennis Harrison. Harrison led the Birds with 6½ quarterback sacks as a rookie and, together with 3rd-year middle guard Charlie Johnson and 4th-year right end Carl Hairston, a Pro Bowl prospect, he helps give the Eagles a formidable defensive line.

The Eagles' linebackers may be the best in the NFL. Frank LeMaster, who plays next to Bergey, was at the top of his game late in 1978 and should be even better in his 6th NFL season. While he and Bergey appear set at their positions, with vet Terry Tautolo or 11th pick Al Chesley in reserve, things are not as well defined at outside linebacker. When vet John Bunting was lost for the season to knee surgery after the 6th game, 3rd round draft choice Reggie Wilkes stepped in and played well enough to be named to two all-rookie teams. Now Bunting appears ready to challenge for his old job but Wilkes won't be easy to dislodge.

On the right side, number one draft choice Jerry Robinson of UCLA may be talented and precocious enough to displace incumbents Ray Phillips and Drew Mahalic, who shared the position last year.

The secondary of coach Fred Bruney accounted for 18 of the Birds' 28 pass interceptions last year, led by the seven of cornerback Herman Edwards and five by free safety Deac Sanders. Strong safety Randy Logan chipped in with two while corner Bob Howard added three more, to bring his career total to 34 in 12 pro seasons. Hoping to challenge him are 1978 draftee Charley Williams and ex-Giant Bill Bryant. Others in the secondary picture include free safety John Sciarra and strong safety Eric Johnson.

The Eagles' offense was increasingly productive in 1978 but still not enough to suit Vermeil. "The big thing we have to do is score more points," he says. "If we get to where we're putting 20 points a game on the board, then we'll win 11 or 12 games. But, if we can't, we're going to have to struggle to win five or six."

There is a suspicion that the Eagles may open up a bit more with the addition to the coaching staff of offensive innovator Sid Gillman. Gillman could design an entire offense around the skills of Montgomery, who set an Eagles' single-season rushing record with 1,220 yards and scored nine rushing touchdowns. With premier blocking fullback Mike Hogan adding 607, the Birds' ground game produced 2,456 yards and 16 TDs despite injuries to reserves Jim Betterson and Herb Lusk. Billy Campfield returns after a solid rookie season to compete for playing time with Larry Barnes, Louie Giammona, Cleveland Franklin and 4th pick Ben Cowins from Arkansas.

The survivors from that group will operate behind an offensive line featuring Pro Bowler Stan Walters at left tackle and similarly talented Jerry Sisemore on the right side. Guards Wade Key and Woody Peoples and center Guy Morriss have the combined NFL experience of 25 seasons behind them. The draft produced guard Petey Perot, tackle Don Swafford and center Chuck Correal in the 2nd, 7th and 8th rounds, respectively. Those three will join vets Tom Luken, Dennis Franks and ex-Lion Jim Yarbrough in the scramble for spots on the roster.

The pass-blocking ability of the offensive line began to match its run-blocking skills by mid-season last year and quarterback Jaworski responded by throwing 16 touchdowns, completing 51.8 of his pass attempts, and cutting his interception total to 16. His capable backup is vet Johnnie Walton.

If the Eagles are to dramatically improve their scoring outlook, a major factor will be the development of a swift outside receiver to complement the talents of Carmichael. The 6-8 Pro Bowler caught 55 passes last year, scoring eight touchdowns and leading the NFC with 1,072 yards and an average of 19.5 yards per catch.

In contrast, the other wide receiver spot produced just 24 catches and three TDs, mainly because vet Charlie Smith was in and out of the lineup most of the season battling leg injuries. If he returns 100 percent fit, it will be tough for Oren Middlebrook, Wally Henry or 5th choice Scott Fitzkee to move him out of the lineup.

The same is true for tight end Keith Krepfle, who caught 26 passes and scored three TDs before missing the final six games with a fractured rib. He'll be challenged by his 1978 replacement, Richard Osborne, and by unknown quantity Bill Larson.

The Eagles' kicking game was erratic for most of 1978, most evident in the 14-13 playoff loss at Atlanta. Regular kicker Nick Mike-Mayer missed that game and the four that preceded it with a cracked rib and the placekicking responsibilities fell to punter Mike Michel. Now Mike-Mayer is healthy again but he may have to return to the Pro Bowl form he displayed as an Atlanta rookie in the face of a challenge from 3rd pick Tony Franklin, who set 18 NCAA kicking records at Texas A&M.

Michel will face competition from 8th round choice Max Runager from South Carolina and from Sonny Wade, who had a career punting average in excess of 41 yards in 10 seasons as a punter (and quarterback) with Montreal of the Canadian League. Solid contributions from the punting and kicking games could help provide the extra scoring output that Vermeil is seeking.

LEONARD H. TOSE
Owner and President

The Eagles' most successful season in 13 years, coupled with complete recovery from mid-season open heart surgery, made 1978 a doubly auspicious year for Eagles' owner Leonard H. Tose. After purchasing the club for a record sum in excess of $16 million in 1969, Tose had to endure nine frustrating seasons before presiding over a team that won more games than it lost.

An Eagles' season ticket holder long before he entertained thoughts of actually owning the team, Tose was born in the Philadelphia suburb of Bridgeport, Pa., where his late father, Mike, had begun the successful family business, Tose Trucking, Inc.

Leonard's interest in football was nurtured at the University of Notre Dame, where he was a member of the class of 1937. He has maintained close ties with his alma mater and served on the alumni association's board of directors from 1969 to 1972.

After college and service with the Army's military police, Tose joined the family business as a truck driver and eventually rose to his current position, chairman of the board. And, while he has maintained his business ventures outside of football, the Eagles have remained his primary interest.

As a working club executive, he serves on two important committees within the National Football League's structure, the Management Council and NFL Films.

Tose is also well known for his many philanthropic activities, the foremost of which is the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign. He first became involved in the project in 1973 when former Eagles' tight end Fred Hill, whose daughter Kim was afflicted with the disease, requested his support in a fund-raising effort.

The owner responded with a guarantee that the Eagles would spearhead the pursuit of a Super Goal of $800,000 while absorbing all administrative costs of the program. With a guarantee that every penny donated goes directly to the fight against leukemia, the original Super Goal was met and surpassed in just four years. By mid-1978, over $1 million had been generated for the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia and teams throughout the NFL had become involved in similar projects in their own cities through the unique Ronald McDonald House promotion.

Leonard has also lent his financial and administrative support to the high school football programs in the city of Philadelphia. His personal contribution of $79,000 in 1971 helped insure the survival of varsity football in the public school system when monetary difficulties threatened its existence.

In 1975, his financial support made possible the establishment of the Philadelphia City All-Star football game. Designed to showcase the often overlooked talents of players from the inner city, the game has become the most successful in the state of Pennsylvania. So far, over 100 young student-athletes have received college financial aid as a result of their participation in the game and the most recent contest, played in April of 1979 at Franklin Field, again drew over 28,000.

Everything that the Eagles are involved in is a result of Tose's commitment to the fans. "They deserve whatever we can do for them, on the field and off," he says. "Win or lose, they are there and I think they appreciate what we are trying to do. I know we appreciate their loyalty and support."

JIM MURRAY
General Manager

In a 10-year span of time, Jim Murray has risen in the Eagles' organization from assistant director of public relations to general manager. He was the youngest person in the NFL to hold that title when he was appointed by owner Leonard H. Tose in December, 1974.

Murray, 41, had aspirations for a career in sports administration since his college days but the sport in which he was most interested then was baseball.

A native Philadelphian and an alumnus of West Catholic High School, he took an administrative position in organized baseball with the Sally League's Tidewater Tides immediately after his graduation from Villanova University in 1960.

A stint of active duty in the Marine Corps Reserve temporarily interrupted his baseball career but he returned to the sport after discharge as assistant general manager of the Atlanta Crackers, a St. Louis Cardinals' affiliate.

In 1964, he left the Crackers to enter the restaurant business, first in Atlanta and later in Malibu, Cal. But two years away convinced Murray that his future was in sports and in 1966 he returned to the East to become sports information director at Villanova.

Three years later he joined the Eagles' public relations department and was promoted to administrative assistant in 1971. Jim's background in public relations puts him in the elite company of numerous NFL executives, including commissioner Pete Rozelle.

During his years with the Eagles, Murray has assumed leadership roles in a number of community projects. He has played a large part in persuading many of his peers in the NFL to support the unique concept of the Ronald McDonald House in their own cities. NFL teams throughout the country are now actively involved in the co-sponsorship of McDonald Houses like the first one in Philadelphia, where young leukemia patients and their families can live while undergoing treatment for the disease at nearby hospitals.

Jim is also an active supporter of high school football, specifically the Philadelphia City All-Star game which has helped more than 100 young student-athletes receive college scholarship aid.

Murray added another duty in 1979 when he agreed to serve as the sports chairman of the annual fund-raising drive for the Fellowship Commission of Philadelphia, a human rights organization dedicated to strengthening people-to-people relationships.

Fittingly, dealing with people is one of Jim's strongest talents. "I think I have a basic thing to contribute and that is an understanding of the Philadelphia fan," Murray says. "I grew up in neighborhoods where you didn't even have to lock your door . . . where, if something was wrong in your house, you didn't worry because somebody from next door came in and took care of you. I understand the Philadelphia franchise and what the people want.

"They want a good day's work and total effort. They expect that, they deserve that and I think they know that they can count on everyone in the organization to give it to them. It's nice to be able to say that."

Away from the job, Murray likes to relax at his Rosemont, Pa. home with wife, Diane, and their five children: Karin, 20; Amy, 11; Jimmy Joe, 9; Brian, 8 and newborn John Paul.

DICK VERMEIL
Head Coach

When he was named NFC Coach of the Year for 1978 by the United Press International, Dick Vermeil had to make room for the award on a mantle already crowded with coaching mementoes from successful tenures on the high school, junior college and major college levels.

Vermeil has made a career of reviving dormant football programs like the one he inherited in Philadelphia in 1976 after leading UCLA to a Rose Bowl championship, Pac-8 title and overall record of 15-5-3 in just two years there.

Mediocre teams never stay that way for long under Vermeil, whose combined high school and college coaching record is a glossy 43-16-4. When he arrived in Philadelphia, the Eagles had not enjoyed a winning season since 1966 and hadn't had a first or second round draft choice since 1973.

In his first two years, Vermeil guided the Birds through 4-10 and 5-9 seasons before last year's team went 9-7 and won a berth in the NFC playoffs, the Eagles' first post-season appearance since the 1960 squad won the NFL title.

"We have more good football players here than people give us credit for," Dick says. "It's just that not too many people know about them, and some of them didn't know how good they could play."

Vermeil's first involvement with football came in the early 1950's when he starred at quarterback and in three other sports at Calistoga High School in the wine country of northern California. He was born in Calistoga on October 30, 1936.

After high school, Dick attended nearby Napa Junior College and then San Jose State, where he played quarterback and eventually earned a Master's degree in physical education in 1959. He began his coaching career as an assistant at San Jose's Del Mar High School that same year.

He became head coach at Hillsdale High School in San Mateo, Cal. in 1960, posting a 17-9-1 record there through 1962 before moving on to San Mateo Junior College as backfield coach in 1963 and then to the head coaching position at Napa College, his alma mater, in 1964. He led that team to a 7-2 record in his first season.

In 1965, Vermeil moved to the major college ranks as an assistant to John Ralston at Stanford and remained there through 1968 when he entered the NFL for the first time as special teams coach under George Allen with the Los Angeles Rams.

He went to UCLA as offensive coordinator under Tommy Prothro the next year and rejoined the Rams in 1971 when Prothro was named head coach. Dick coached the Los Angeles quarterbacks under Prothro and remained on the staff when Chuck Knox became head coach in 1973.

Dick became head coach at UCLA in 1974 and joined the Eagles by signing a five-year contract on February 8, 1976. That pact was extended through the 1985 season by owner Leonard Tose on May 14, 1979.

Away from the rigorous regular season schedule, the coach enjoys hunting and photography. He is also very involved in a number of community activities, including the Special Olympics and the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign. Dick and his wife, Carol, are the parents of three children: Richard, 21; David, 19 and Nancy, 18. The Vermeils reside in Bryn Mawr, Pa.

FRED BRUNEY, Defensive Secondary

Fred Bruney, who coached the Eagles' secondary from 1964 through 1968 under Joe Kuharich, returned to Philadelphia in 1977 after spending the previous eight seasons with the Atlanta Falcons. The 47-year-old Bruney (December 30, 1931) has spent a total of 27 years in professional football as a player and coach. Fred, a native of Martin's Ferry, Ohio, starred as a defensive back at Ohio State before graduating in 1953. He was a 3rd round draft choice of Cleveland that year but was traded to San Francisco and played the 1953 season with the 49ers before beginning two years of military duty. He returned to San Francisco in 1956 and subsequently saw action with Pittsburgh (1957), Los Angeles (1958) and the Boston Patriots (1960-62). He was an All-AFL selection in 1960. Boston, his last playing spot, was also his first coaching stop. He tutored the defensive backs there in 1962 and 1963 before coming to Philadelphia. The defensive secondaries he coached at Atlanta consistently ranked with the NFL's best and he appears to have the Eagles' pass defenders headed in the same direction. In 1978, Bruney's secondary accounted for 18 of the Birds' 28 pass interceptions. Fred and his wife, Louise, reside in Medford, N.J. They have five children: Chuck, 23; Susan, 15; Lori, 12; Rebecca, 9; and Richard, 7.

MARION CAMPBELL, Defensive Coordinator

If Marion Campbell is not a defensive coaching genius, then he must be the next closest thing to it. Under his direction, the Eagles' 3-4 alignment allowed a club record 207 points in 1977 and followed up last season by surrendering only 250 in a 16-game season, 3rd fewest in the NFC. Developing talented defensive units is nothing new to Campbell, who has gained praise for his work at Minnesota (1964-66), Los Angeles (1966-68) and Atlanta (1969-76). Marion was head coach of the Falcons from November of 1974 to October of 1976. The 50-year-old native of Chester, S.C. (May 25, 1929) was a three-time All-Southeastern Conference choice as a tackle at Georgia and was also selected as the team's Most Valuable Player as a senior before graduating in 1951. He was a 4th round draft choice of the San Francisco 49ers but did not begin his eight-year NFL playing career until 1954 after completing two years of Army service as a lieutenant. He played two seasons with the 49ers before being traded to the Eagles, where he enjoyed his greatest playing seasons. Marion was a Sporting News All-Pro choice in 1959 and 1960 and played in the 1960 and 1961 Pro Bowl games. He retired after the 1961 season and began his coaching career in the AFL with two seasons (1962-63) with the Boston Patriots. A talented golfer and avid fisherman, Campbell resides in Medford, N.J. with his wife, June, and their two children, Scott, 17 and Alicia, 14. Scott is a freshman football player at the University of Georgia.

CHUCK CLAUSEN, Defensive Line

Chuck Clausen joined the Eagles in 1977 after spending the five previous seasons as the defensive line coach under Woody Hayes at Ohio State. In two years under his direction, the Eagles' pass rush has improved dramatically, tying a club record with 47 quarterback sacks in 1977 and adding 29 more last year. Clausen, 39, is a native of Anamosa, Iowa (June 23, 1940). He was a letterman in football and wrestling at New Mexico before graduating in 1963. From 1963 through 1967 he coached on the high school level while also earning a Master's degree in physical education at San Jose State. He spent the 1968 season at New Mexico Military Institute, then moved up to the college ranks at William and Mary in 1969 under current Kansas City Chiefs' head coach Marv Levy. He remained at that school until 1971 when he left to join the Ohio State staff. The Buckeyes won Big 10 titles in four of his five seasons there as Clausen developed three All-Americans, George Hasenohrl, Pete Cusick and Nick Buonamici. With the Eagles, Chuck deserves a large share of the credit for developing outstanding young linemen like Carl Hairston, Charlie Johnson and Dennis Harrison. Clausen and his wife, Betsy, reside in Mount Laurel, N.J. with their three children: Cari, 11; Lisa, 9 and Chad, 8.

DICK COURY, Wide Receivers

Dick Coury is one of three Eagles' assistants (Marion Campbell and Sid Gillman are the others) with head coaching experience on the professional level. He was head coach of the World Football League's Portland Storm in 1974. Dick was born on September 29, 1929 in Athens, Ohio. He played freshman football at Notre Dame before graduating in 1951. After spending 1952 and 1953 with the U.S. Army in Japan, he began his coaching career at Mater Dei High School in Orange County, Cal. He developed consistently outstanding teams at that school until 1965 when he joined the staff at the University of Southern California as defensive coordinator. In 1968 he was named head coach at Cal State (Fullerton), where he remained through 1970. Dick's previous pro experience includes service as a Denver Broncos' assistant from 1971 to 1973 and one year (1975) with the San Diego Chargers. He has coached the Eagles' wide receivers since 1976. Dick and his wife, Bonnie, are the parents of seven children: Mike, 24; Richard, 22; Steve, 21; Robert, 20; Cathy, 18; Linda, 17; and Tim, 15. SID GILLMAN, Research and Quality Control

The lure of professional football proved too strong for Sid Gillman, who spent the past year and a half as athletic director at San Diego's U.S. International University and 18 years before that as a head coach in the NFL and the AFL. Gillman, 67, joined the Eagles in April of 1979 to organize a new department of research and quality control. In that capacity, he will work closely with Dick Vermeil in the development of offensive game plans for upcoming opponents. "My life has been pro football and I'm anxious and happy to be coming back," says Gillman, who was born in Minneapolis, Minn. on October 26, 1911. After graduating from Ohio State, he became a coach at that school in the '34 season. He returned to his alma mater as an assistant from 1934 to 1940 after two years (1935 through 1937) at Denison University. He was also an assistant at Miami of Ohio in 1942-43 and at West Point in 1948. Gillman became a head coach for the first time at Miami of Ohio in 1944 and remained there through 1947. He was named head coach at the University of Cincinnati in 1949 and never won fewer than eight games in a season there through 1954. He came into the NFL in 1955 as head coach of the Los Angeles Rams, a position he held until 1959. He moved to the AFL with the Los Angeles entry in 1960 and remained with that team when they moved to San Diego the following year. In 11 seasons under Gillman, the Chargers won AFL Western Division titles five times and had an overall record of 86-53-6. His 1963 team defeated the Boston Patriots, 51-10, to win the AFL championship. Sid finished his head coaching career after the 1974 season when he was named NFL Coach of the Year after leading the Houston Oilers to a 7-7 record. He returned to the NFL in 1977 to serve one season as offensive coordinator of the Chicago Bears under Jack Pardee. Sid and his wife, Esther, will relocate to the Philadelphia area. They are the parents of four grown children.

GEORGE HILL, Linebackers

George Hill is beginning his first coaching experience in the NFL after establishing a solid background on the college level, including eight seasons from 1971 through 1978 as defensive coordinator under Woody Hayes at Ohio State. Hill, 46 (April 28, 1933), is a native of Bay Village, Ohio. He was a lineman at Ohio's Denison University, which he attended after service with the U.S. Navy. He began coaching in 1959 at Findlay (O.) College, returned to Denison from 1960 through 1964 and then spent the 1965 season at Cornell. He was an assistant at Duke from 1966 through 1970 before joining the Ohio State staff. George coached a number of outstanding college players who went on to successful NFL careers, including Miami's Bob Matheson at Duke and Denver's Randy Gradishar, San Francisco's Bruce Elia, San Diego's Rick Middleton and Los Angeles' Bob Brudinski at Ohio State. His most recent Buckeye All-American was Tom Cousineau. With the Eagles, he will work with a talented group of linebackers led by all-pro Bill Bergey. George and his wife, Cloyde, reside with their children, Greg, 14 and Tammy, 10, in Mt. Laurel, N.J. BILLY JOE, Running Backs

As a first-year Eagles' aide in charge of the running backs, Billy Joe is fulfilling a goal he set for himself almost 10 years ago after retiring as an active player following seven seasons as a power running fullback in the AFL and the NFL. Billy is the only Philadelphia area native on the Birds' staff, having played his high school football in Coatesville, Pa. and his college career at Villanova, where he helped the Wildcats appear in the 1961 Sun Bowl and 1962 Liberty Bowl. As an outstanding shot putter, Joe won a silver medal for the U.S.A. in the 1963 Pan American Games and still holds the Villanova school record with a toss of 60 feet, 6 inches. Originally a 6th round draft choice of the Denver Broncos in 1963, he went on to win AFL Rookie of the Year honors while leading the Broncos with 649 rushing yards. After two seasons in Denver, Billy was traded to Buffalo for league MVP Cookie Gilchrist in 1965 and helped the Bills win the AFL championship that year. He played with the Miami Dolphins in 1966 and with the New York Jets in 1967, '68 and '69, although a regular season knee injury caused him to sit out the 1969 Super Bowl won by the Jets. Billy began coaching as an assistant at Cheyney (Pa.) State in 1970, moved to the University of Maryland in 1971 and then returned to Cheyney as head coach in 1972. His seven-year record there was 38-31 and his 7-3 squad of 1978 helped him win Pennsylvania State Conference Coach of the Year honors. He joined the Eagles in April of 1979, replacing Johnny Roland. Billy resides in Concordville, Pa. with his wife, Cora, and daughter, Candace, 13.

LYNN STILES, Administrative Assistant and Tight Ends

Lynn Stiles was actually one of the first aides hired by Dick Vermeil when he took over as head coach of the Eagles in 1976 but Lynn hardly had a chance to get acclimated at Veterans Stadium before the head coaching position at San Jose State beckoned. Now, three seasons later, Stiles is back in Philadelphia as Vermeil's chief administrative assistant and tight ends coach. He replaces Bill Davis, who has moved on to the Miami Dolphins as pro player personnel director. Stiles, 37 (April 12, 1942), was born in Kermit, Texas but went to high school in Reno, Nev. After a college playing career as an All-Western Athletic Conference guard at the University of Utah, Lynn began coaching at his alma mater in 1963 and remained there through 1965. From 1966 to 1970, he was a defensive line coach under Ray Nagel at Iowa before joining the UCLA staff of Pepper Rogers in 1971. Stiles remained with the Bruins when Dick Vermeil became head coach in 1974. After his first short stint with the Eagles, Lynn returned to the West Coast and guided San Jose State to a three-year record of 18-16 and two PCAA championships. In addition to coaching the Birds' tight ends, Lynn will be responsible for coordinating the special teams and for many of Coach Vermeil's administrative duties. He and his wife, Marigene, reside in Moorestown, N.J. with their three children: Staci, 12; Shon, 8 and Tiffany, 1.

JERRY WAMPFLER, Offensive Line and Running Game

Jerry Wampfler is beginning his second stint with the Eagles, having served as defensive line coach under Mike McCormack from 1973 through 1975. Wampfler, 47, was born on August 7, 1932 in New Philadelphia, Ohio. Recruited by Woody Hayes, he was a standout offensive tackle at Miami of Ohio from 1951 to 1954. He was drafted by the Los Angeles Rams but an off-season back injury forced him to miss a pro playing opportunity and he turned to high school coaching at schools in New Philadelphia, Lancaster and Massillon, Ohio. He undertook his first major college assignment at his alma mater from 1963 through 1965 before becoming offensive line coach under another Miami graduate, Ara Parseghian, at Notre Dame. Jerry's first offensive line helped the Irish to the 1966 national championship. He remained at Notre Dame until 1970 when he became head coach at Colorado State, a position he held until joining the Eagles in 1973. His three seasons in Philadelphia were followed by two years with the Buffalo Bills and one, 1978, with the New York Giants. He returned to the Eagles in April of 1979, replacing Duane Putnam, who resigned to take a coaching position with the St. Louis Cardinals. Jerry and his wife, Carol, have three children, Nan, Jody and Tad. They reside in Cherry Hill, N.J.

He replaced Herman Ball, who is officially retired but remains close to the club in an advisory capacity on personnel matters. Peterson was born on May 26, 1943 in Minneapolis, Minn. He played college football at West Point (1963-64) and at UCLA before a knee injury ended his career. He received his doctorate in Administration in Higher Education from UCLA in 1970. Carl began coaching in 1966 at Wilson High School in Long Beach, Cal. The following year he moved on to Loyola High School before becoming head coach at Cal State College at Sonoma from 1969 through 1971. In 1972 he became receivers coach and administrative assistant at UCLA and remained there through 1975, the last two years under head coach Dick Vermeil. He joined Vermeil with the Eagles in 1976 as an administrative assistant and tight ends coach, then became actively involved in scouting and the acquisition of player personnel during the 1977 season. Carl makes his home in Berlin, N.J. with his wife, Belinda, and nine-year-old daughter, Dawn.

JACKIE GRAVES, Assistant Director of Player Personnel

Popular Jackie Graves, 53, is beginning his 7th season with the Eagles and 5th as assistant director of player personnel. His concentrated area of scouting responsibility is the South and Southwest and for that reason he continues to make his home in Houston, Texas. Prior to coming to Philadelphia in 1973, Graves worked for the CEPO scouting combine. A native of Lubbock, Texas, he played football and majored in physical education at Texas College in Tyler. After graduating he served as an assistant coach at Texas Southern University for nine years and later coached at his alma mater for two seasons. After work-

He played as a collegian at the University of Dayton before joining the Giants in 1956 as a 4th round draft choice. He went on to become head coach of the 'Skins in the 1950-51 seasons. In 1955 he joined the Pittsburgh Steelers for a year before a seven-year stint (1956-62) with the Baltimore Colts. He came to the Eagles as an assistant coach in 1964. With a bit more spare time on his hands since his "retirement," Herman enjoys gardening at his King of Prussia, Pa. home where he resides with his wife, Edna.

Review of Eagles' 1978 Season

LOS ANGELES 16, EAGLES 14
September 3 at Veterans Stadium

Frank Corral, a UCLA recruit of Dick Vermeil's, kicked a 46-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining in the game to give Los Angeles a 16-14 opening day win. The Eagles' Wally Henry, another UCLA product, had put the Birds ahead for the first time in the game only minutes before when he returned a punt 57 yards for a touchdown and Nick Mike-Mayer followed with a successful conversion. The Rams began their winning drive from their own 12-yard line with less than two minutes left in the game.

WASHINGTON 35, EAGLES 30
September 10 at R.F.K. Stadium

Wilbert Montgomery tied an Eagles' Club record with four touchdowns and had another score nullified by a penalty but it wasn't enough to save the Birds from defeat. Washington's Joe Theismann threw three touchdown passes in the first half to stake his team to a 21-10 halftime lead. After trimming a 35-18 Redskin advantage to 35-30 with two Montgomery TD runs in the last period, the Eagles twice moved into Washington territory in the final four minutes of the game but could not advance beyond the 'Skins' 30-yard line.

The Eagles made their first visit to the Superdome a victorious one as Ron Jaworski threw touchdown passes of 5 and 19 yards to Harold Carmichael and Wilbert Montgomery ran for 104 yards, the second 100-yard rushing performance of his young career. Jaworski also connected on a 20-yard scoring aerial with tight end Keith Krepfle, who made a diving, juggling catch in the end zone to help the Eagles to a 7-7 halftime tie. Free safety John "Deac" Sanders picked off two Archie Manning passes for Eagles.

While Hogan was scoring twice, running mate Wilbert Montgomery was notching his second consecutive 100-yard rushing performance with a 111-yard effort. Overall, the Eagles rushed for 222 yards while holding a Miami team that had come into the game as the NFL's most productive rushing team to 84 yards on 22 carries. The Eagles scored all of their points in the final period to win their third consecutive game of the young season. The Birds finally got on the scoreboard on the first play of the 4th quarter when Ron Jaworski hit tight end Keith Krepfle with a 20-yard scoring pass. Nick Mike-Mayer then cut the deficit to 14-10 midway through the period and Wilbert Montgomery gave Philadelphia its only lead of the day with 2:39 remaining when he burst 14 yards for a touchdown. Montgomery, with 144 yards on 25 carries, enjoyed his greatest day as a professional. A final Baltimore drive was ended when safety John Sciarra intercepted a Bill Troup pass at the Eagles' 21-yard line.

NEW ENGLAND 24, EAGLES 14
October 8 at Schaefer Stadium

New England jumped out to a quick 17-0 lead by early in the second period and never looked back as the Eagles' record evened out at 3-3. Harold Carmichael's 28-yard touchdown reception of a Ron Jaworski pass just before halftime gave the Eagles a glimmer of hope but the Patriots put the game on ice early in the second half with a 58-yard pass play. Backup quarterback John Sciarra, primarily a free safety, scored for the Eagles on a one-yard run. After three straight 100-yard rushing performances, Wilbert Montgomery was limited to 70 yards on 13 carries.

EAGLES 17, WASHINGTON 10
October 15 at Veterans Stadium

Wilbert Montgomery broke a 10-10 tie with a 12-yard touchdown run early in the last period and a tense defensive struggle ensued as the Eagles handed the Redskins their first defeat of the year after six straight wins. Free safety John "Deac" Sanders got the Birds going early when he read a Joe Theismann pass perfectly and picked it off for a 19-yard TD return. Theismann was also intercepted by Herman Edwards as the Eagles sacked him three times and harassed him into an 8 for 21 passing day. Washington appeared on its way to tying the score late in the game when they drove to the Eagles' 11-yard line but the 'Skins' Tony Green fumbled and Reggie Wilkes recovered for the Birds on his own three-yard line.

DALLAS 14, EAGLES 7
October 22 at Texas Stadium

The Cowboys limited the Eagles to 117 yards on the ground and sacked Ron Jaworski five times on their way to victory in Texas. Tony Dorsett did not start for the Cowboys and played only sparingly, carrying the ball just seven times for 24 yards. The Eagles averted a shutout on Jaworski's 34-yard TD pass to Keith Krepfle in the third quarter but could advance no farther than the Dallas 37-yard line in the final period.

With Wilbert Montgomery and Mike Hogan out of action with injuries, the Eagles managed only 51 yards on the ground but two of those came on a John Sciarra touchdown run and the Birds downed Green Bay for their 5th win of the year. The Packers rolled up a total offense of 385 yards but could score only three points, those coming on Chester Marcol's 42-yard field goal in the opening period. Bill Bergey, Bob Howard and Herman Edwards each came up with timely interceptions, Edwards' coming at the Eagles' 6-yard line with just 1:16 remaining in the game

EAGLES 17, NEW YORK JETS 9
November 12 at Veterans Stadium

Harold Carmichael caught two touchdown passes and rookie Billy Campfield turned in a solid 92-yard rushing performance as the Eagles improved their record to 6-5. The Eagles never trailed after Carmichael hooked up with Ron Jaworski for an 18-yard scoring play which wiped out an early 3-0 New York lead. The Jets had an opportunity to tie the score at 10-10 after scoring a third period touchdown but Carmichael leaped high to block Leahy's point after attempt. Harold then used his height to put the contest out of reach when he caught a six-yard Jaworski pass in the end zone over Jets' defender Bobby Jackson late in the last period.

EAGLES 19, NEW YORK GIANTS 17
November 19 at Giants Stadium

Herman Edwards provided the "Miracle of the Meadowlands" when he scooped up a Joe Pisarcik fumble and raced 26 yards for the winning touchdown with 20 seconds left to play before a stunned Giants Stadium crowd of 70,318, largest to see the Eagles play in 1978. The Birds had fought back from an early 14-0 deficit after two Pisarcik touchdown passes in the first period but appeared beaten when the Giants had possession of the ball at their own 29-yard line and the Eagles had no time-outs remaining with 31 seconds remaining. But then Pisarcik attempted his ill-fated handoff and 31 seconds later, the Eagles had their sixth straight win over the Giants. Wilbert Montgomery returned to action after sitting out the previous two games and rushed for 88 yards and an 8-yard touchdown.

EAGLES 14, ST. LOUIS 10
November 26 at Busch Memorial Stadium

After ten consecutive frustrating losses to St. Louis since 1973, the Eagles finally gained a victory in the long series on a rainy Sunday afternoon in St. Louis. The Birds took a 14-3 lead early in the final period, then counted on their defense to do the rest. Bill Bergey responded by intercepting a Jim Hart pass at the Eagles' 17-yard line to halt one drive and the Cardinals could not put a touchdown on the scoreboard until it was too late. Hart hit Pat Tilley with a one-yard TD strike but the Eagles ran out the clock after recovering the ensuing onside kick attempt.

MINNESOTA 28, EAGLES 27
December 3 at Metropolitan Stadium

The Birds piled up 27 first half points but couldn't score in the second half as Fran Tarkenton and Co. engineered the win in snowy Bloomington. Ron Jaworski threw three touchdown passes and Wilbert Montgomery scored on a 36-yard run to account for Philadelphia's first-half onslaught. Carmichael caught two of the scoring aerials, one of which went for 56 yards. The Vikings closed the gap to 27-21 midway through the third period, then won the game in the final two minutes when Tarkenton found Ahmad Rashad with a 20-yard scoring pass and Rick Danmeier successfully converted the point after. Wilbert Montgomery again surpassed the 100-yard mark, gaining 115 on 24 carries.

DALLAS 31, EAGLES 13
December 10 at Veterans Stadium

With less than seven minutes elapsed in the first period, the Eagles found themselves behind, 14-0, and could never recover as they suffered their most one-sided defeat of the season. Hopes were raised when Mike Hogan drove over for a one-yard touchdown to cut the Dallas lead to 14-7 late in the opening stanza and the teams played a scoreless second quarter. But Tony Dorsett's 23-yard scoring romp and an 18-yard Rafiel Septien field goal put the game out of reach after intermission. Ron Jaworski, under constant pressure all afternoon, threw two interceptions and was sacked eight times.

The Eagles also benefitted from Mike Hogan's 100-yard effort on the ground as the Birds out-rushed the visitors, 238 to 48. NFC Wildcard Playoff Game

ATLANTA 14, EAGLES 13

December 24 at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium

The Eagles took a 13-0 lead midway in the final period, then were shocked by two Steve Bartkowski touchdown passes in the last five minutes as they dropped a 14-13 decision in the NFC Wildcard Playoff game in the rain on Christmas Eve. The Birds struck first late in the opening period when Ron Jaworski hit Harold Carmichael with a 13-yard touchdown pass. The Eagles' defense played inspired football all afternoon, and when Wilbert Montgomery tallied on a one-yard run with 7:24 elapsed in the 4th quarter, the Birds appeared on their way to a second round playoff game at Los Angeles. Disaster struck a few minutes later, however, after Atlanta had recovered Mike Hogan's fumble at their own 15-yard line. Seven plays later, Bartkowski found tight end Jim Mitchell with a 20-yard scoring pass and Tim Mazzetti's successful conversion point made the score 13-7. Atlanta scored again on their next possession on a 37-yard Bartkowski to Wallace Francis aerial and Mazzetti's point after proved to be the eventual margin of victory. With just 1:39 remaining in the game, Jaworski drove the Eagles from their own 34-yard line to the Atlanta 16, but with 17 seconds remaining, Mike Michel's 34-yard field goal attempt sailed just outside the right upright and the Eagles' season had ended.

Eagles Fly For Leukemia

Eagles Fly for Leukemia is one of the most unique projects in professional sports. Since the Eagles became involved in the fund-raising effort in 1973, over $1 million has been raised for the treatment and research of cancer at the prestigious Children's Hospital of Philadelphia. The drive was initiated by former Eagles' tight end Fred Hill whose daughter, Kim, is afflicted with the disease. Hill asked his teammates and Eagles' owner Leonard H. Tose to join him in the battle against the disease and, since then, every player who has worn an Eagles' uniform has taken part in the program. Tose has made the drive unique among charities by guaranteeing that all administrative costs are borne by the Eagles. Thus, anyone contributing can be certain that every cent of the donation will go directly to leukemia treatment and research. The McDonald's Restaurant operators of the Delaware Valley, Frito-Lay Inc., Continental Bank and NFL Charities are just a few of the thousands of organizations and individuals who have generated or contributed funds for Eagles Fly for Leukemia. The Eagles' Story

The Birds enjoyed a winning season for the first time since 1966 when they compiled a 9-7 record in the NFL's initial 16-game regular season. That was good enough to get them into their first post-season playoff action since 1960, but a heartbreaking 14-13 loss to the Atlanta Falcons in the wildcard playoff game ended the season on a down note. The Eagles placed four players in the Pro Bowl game, led by halfback Wilbert Montgomery, who broke Steve Van Buren's 29-year-old club rushing record for a season by running for 1220 yards. Other Pro Bowl players included wide receiver Harold Carmichael, linebacker Bill Bergey and offensive tackle Stan Walters. For his role in leading the Eagles to a winning playoff season, Dick Vermeil was named NFC Coach of the Year by United Press International. Regular season attendance: home 502,956, away 424,310; overall 927,266.

Despite only a slight improvement to a 5-9 record, the Eagles fielded one of the NFL's most impressive defenses. Under coordinator and former player Marion Campbell, the unit gave up only 207 points, setting a club record for least points allowed in a 14-game season and tying a team record with 47 sacks of opposing quarterbacks. The on-the-field leader of the newly-installed 3-4 defense was again inside linebacker Bill Bergey, who won numerous All-Pro and All-NFC honors at season's end and was selected to play in his third Pro Bowl game. An improved offense was engineered by new quarterback Ron Jaworski, who threw 18 touchdown passes and scored five times himself. The more productive offense coupled with the solid defense enabled the Birds to actually outscore their 14 regular season opponents, 220 to 207. Attendance: home 349,506; away 313,783; overall 663,289.

Under first year head coach Dick Vermeil, the Eagles repeated their 1975 record of 4-10 against a schedule that included nine winning teams and the eventual Super Bowl participants, Oakland and Minnesota. The Birds played respectably in almost every game but their inability to score points proved their downfall in most of the setbacks. The team did not score more than 20 points in a game until the finale against the expansion Seattle Seahawks. Rookie Mike Hogan, a 9th round draft choice, was a pleasant surprise. He led the team in rushing with 561 yards despite missing 6½ games with a shoulder injury. Middle linebacker Bill Bergey again anchored the defense, winning unanimous All-NFC recognition and a spot in the Pro Bowl. Bergey led all Eagles' tacklers with 146 initial hits and 113 assists. Attendance: home 392,921; away 386,498; overall 779,419.

Upset losses in the first two games set the stage for a disheartening 4-10 season that included three losses by field goals in the final seconds. Leonard Tose announced that the contract of head coach Mike McCormack would not be renewed for 1976. He and general manager Jim Murray then began an exhaustive search for a new coach that ended with the appointment of 39-year-old Dick Vermeil of UCLA on February 8, 1976. On-the-field highlights for the 1975 Eagles included twin wins over the Washington Redskins for the first time since 1961. Second year wide receiver Charley Smith emerged as a game-breaker and second year linebacker Frank LeMaster was a defensive standout. Tight end Charles Young was selected to play in his third straight Pro Bowl and second year quarterback Mike Boryla, a late substitute in that game, led the NFC to victory with two 4th period touchdown passes. The Eagles compiled a respectable 7-7 record despite a six-game mid-season losing streak that cost them a legitimate chance at a playoff berth. The Birds rebounded from that slump to win their final three games behind the quarterbacking of rookie Mike Boryla, a spring acquisition from Cincinnati. That team also provided the Eagles with middle linebacker Bill Bergey, who arrived during training camp for two first draft choices and one second choice. Bergey enjoyed All-Pro honors at the end of his first season in Philadelphia and played in the Pro Bowl along with tight end Charley Young, who became the third straight Eagle to win the NFC receiving title. Young caught 63 passes for 696 yards. Owner Leonard Tose named former administrative assistant Jim Murray to the post of general manager at the end of the season. The Eagles regained respectability in the National Football League, just as head coach Mike McCormack promised before the season. The 5-8-1 record was a misleading one since one game was tied by a New York Giants' field goal at the final gun and another was lost by a missed Eagles' field goal as time ran out. Four Eagles were selected to play in the Pro Bowl including quarterback Roman Gabriel, who led the league in four passing categories after being acquired from Los Angeles before the season; league receiving leader Harold Carmichael; tight end Charles Young, the leading pass catching tight end in the NFL; and safety Bill Bradley, who played in his third straight Pro Bowl. Individual honors went to two of the smallest Eagles, Bill Bradley and Harold Jackson. Free safety Bradley was an All-Pro choice after again leading the league with 9 interceptions while wide receiver Jackson won All-NFC honors for his 62 receptions, tops in the NFL. General manager Pete Retzlaff resigned at season's end and the entire coaching staff was released. Mike Mc-Cormack was named head coach in January, 1973. On their way to a 6-2-1 mark in the final nine games, the Birds got great performances from an aggressive young defense featuring the team's last four number one draft choices and NFL interception leader Bill Bradley. Kicker Tom Dempsey saw action in only five games but still managed to lead the league in field goal accuracy (12 of 17) and set a team record with a 54-yard field goal. Crippling injuries to players like Tom Woodeshick, Bill Bradley and Leroy Keyes helped lead to a disappointing 3-10-1 season for the 1970 Eagles. Hardest hit was the defensive backfield which was almost completely depleted before regular season play began but still featured enough capable replacements to rank second in official league statistics. The overall defense ranked seventh and helped the Birds to a respectable 3-3-1 record over the season's final seven games including a memorable 23-20 upset of the New York Giants at Franklin Field. Veteran tight end Gary Ballman was selected by teammates as Most Valuable Eagle and offensive tackle Wade Key made the NFL's All-Rookie team. 1969 was totally the year of change for the Eagles. Owner Jerry Wolman sold the team to trucking tycoon Leonard Tose for $16,155,000.00. Tose replaced General Manager-Head Coach Joe Kuharich immediately after the purchase. He named Pete Retzlaff, the former Eagle All-Pro tight end, as his General Manager. Retzlaff then picked Jerry Williams, an ex-Eagle player and Assistant Coach, as the Head Coach. Retzlaff and Tose set right to work trading and reorganizing the entire Eagles organization on and off the field. In trades with the Rams Retzlaff picked up player-coach Irv Cross, Don Chuy, and Joe Carollo for tackle Bob Brown. Fullback Izzy Lang headed west and the Eagles received super receiver Harold Jackson who led the league in pass receiving yardage in his first year with the Eagles. Williams' team finished with a 4-9-1 marker and three Eagles went to the Pro Bowl . . . Tim Rossovich, Dave Lloyd and Harold Jackson. Attendance: home 424,606; away 385,545; overall 810,151.

Eagles' Radio Network

WIP Radio, 610 on the AM dial, will again originate all Eagles' games in the 1979 season. The play-by-play chores will be handled by WIP's sports director, Merrill Reese, with color commentary by Jim Barniak. Other members of the WIP broadcast team include producer Jerry Rossett, statistician Jack Edelstein and spotter Bill Werndl. Because of differences in individual station formats, such as broadcast hours and other factors, stations along the network carry a various schedule of games. This year's tentative Eagles' network, coordinated by Metro Communications Sports, is as follows: WPDC-AM and FM, Elizabethtown, Pa.; WGPA-AM, Allentown and Bethlehem, Pa.; WPAM-AM, Pottsville, Pa.; WEEU-AM, Reading, Pa.; WZTA-FM, Tamaqua, Pa.; WSBA-AM, York, Harrisburg and Lancaster, Pa.; WVLV-AM, Lebanon, Pa.; WAVT-FM, Pottsville, Pa.; WARM-AM, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, Pa.; WSHP-AM, Shippensburg, Pa.; WBRX-AM, Berwick, Pa.; WOND-AM, Atlantic City, N.J.; WMVB-AM and FM, Millville, N.J.; WJIC-AM, Salem, N.J.; WRDI-AM, Hammonton, N.J.; WRDR-FM, Hammonton, N.J.; WHWH, Trenton and Princeton, N.J.; WNRK-AM, Newark, Del.; WILM-AM, Wilmington, Del.; WASA-AM, Havre de Grace, Md.; WCTR-AM, Chesterton, Md.

MEDIA INFORMATION

CREDENTIAL REQUESTS: News media representatives on assignment who have not been issued season press credentials should request single game credentials in advance by writing or calling the Eagles' Public Relations Department, Veterans Stadium, Philadelphia, Pa. 19148 (phone 215-463-2500). Credentials reserved in advance can be picked up at the Press Gate (not the Will Call Window) two hours before the scheduled kickoff. Members of the media covering a visiting team should arrange to acquire their credentials through the visiting team's PR department.

PRESS BOXES: The Eagles maintain three press boxes, designated A, B, and C on the 4th level of Veterans Stadium. Admission to these press boxes is strictly limited to those individuals holding credentials issued by the Eagles' Public Relations Department. No other media identification credentials will be honored. Sports/Comm and Amfax (617-337-3415) facilities are located in Press Box A. With the exception of field photographers (see below), all news media should enter the stadium through the press gate (Spectrum side of stadium) and take the press elevator to the press boxes (4th level).

TELEVISION AND RADIO: Network television and visiting radio facilities are located on the 4th level between press boxes A and B. Network TV credentials can be obtained through the network game producer while visiting radio credentials will be issued through the visiting team's PR man unless other arrangements have been made in advance.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Field photographers with the proper credentials should enter the press gate and take the press elevator to the 1st (Field) level where special identifying arm bands are issued in the southwest corner of the stadium (off the playing field). All field photographers are required to wear both a game credential and the appropriate ribbon. There is also a photo deck located on the 4th level. Space there is extremely limited and is available only on a reserved basis. Field photographers and anyone else holding a field credential are cautioned that the bench area inside the 35-yard lines is off-limits to all non-playing personnel. Field photographers must also remain at least 12 feet behind the sidelines at all times, i.e., behind the broken yellow lines.

LOCKER ROOMS: Admission to the home and visiting locker rooms after the games is limited to those individuals holding credentials issued by the Eagles. There is absolutely no admission to the locker rooms before or during a game.

PRESS CLUB: The Eagles provide food and beverages in the Press Club behind Press Box A before, during and after each game. Admission to the Press Club is limited to those holding game credentials. No one else is permitted in the dining area.

THE FRITO-LAY
STORY _____ [FL]

Roman Gabriel is back in Rancho Mirage, Cal. now, tending to his business interests, and Charles Young, once his favorite target, is not far away in Los Angeles trying to win a starting tight end job with the Rams. But on August 9, 1975, both were Philadelphia Eagles when the Birds opened the pre-season at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium against the defending Super Bowl champion Steelers.

The memory that the Eagles scored a 17-14 upset that night may have dimmed in the manner of most pre-season games, but the significance of a third-period Gabriel-to-Young touchdown pass of 12 yards is more memorable.

That score marked the first of many that have been translated into one of the most impressive single contributions to the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign by the folks at Frito-Lay, Inc.

Each week a representative of Frito-Lay, Inc. appears on coach Dick Vermeil's television show to present a check from the previous week's game to the Eagles Fly for Leukemia campaign.

Only weeks before the 1975 pre-season began, Frito-Lay's representatives approached Eagles' general manager Jim Murray to learn more about the Fly for Leukemia program. By the time their first meeting was history, the Dallas-based company had committed to a contribution of $500 for each touchdown scored by the Eagles during the '75 pre and regular season. When the Eagles trudged off the field that muggy night in Pittsburgh, the cancer treatment and research facility at the Children's Touchdown catches like this one last season against the St. Louis Cardinals have helped Harold Carmichael personally account for $18,900 as part of Frito-Lay's $100-a-point donation. In pre, regular and post-season play since 1975, Harold has scored 34 touchdowns.

Hospital of Philadelphia was suddenly $1,000 richer thanks to Young's TD and a later six-pointer by Harold Carmichael, the eventual game winner.

Today, after four full seasons of Frito-Lay's generosity, over $110,000 has been donated to the fund with the possibility that the total could grow dramatically this season as the Eagles continue to improve on the field.

At $500 a touchdown, the 1975 and 1976 contributions totaled $33,500. Then, in 1977, Frito-Lay decided to up the ante by changing the system and contributing $100 for each point scored rather than $500 a touchdown. The Eagles responded with an improved offensive performance during the 1977 season, tallying 42 touchdowns, 11 field goals and 37 points after touchdowns. All of that translated into a donation of $30,900 to bring Frito-Lay's three-year contribution to $64,400. The stage was set for an assault on the $100,000 mark during the 1978 campaign and the Eagles did not disappoint.

A solid 4-1 pre-season produced 90 points and $9,000 and 283 additional points scored in regular and post-season play meant another $28,300 for a 1978 total of $37,300. That was the best single season sum in the history of the relationship between the Eagles and Frito-Lay, making the four-season grand total a whopping $111,700 and helping to push Eagles Fly for Leukemia itself over the $1 million plateau.

"Everyone at Frito-Lay is extremely proud of our association with the Eagles and their Fly for Leukemia project," says Phil Thomas, the company's Northeast Zone Manager for Sales Development, who also coordinates his firm's college scholarship program for participants in the Philadelphia City All-Star football game.

"We know the great work that is being done at the Eagles' Oncology Center at Children's Hospital and to be able to play a role in continuing that work makes us feel that we are a real part of the Delaware Valley community," added Thomas. "We're pleased to announce that we will again be contributing $100 for each point scored by the Eagles in 1979, this time in the name of our Lay's® Brand Potato Chips."
